

IWMA Statement – Tuesday 6th December 2016

The IWMA notes media reports that Minister Naughten will be seeking cabinet approval to defer the planned introduction on 1 January next of dual billing for household waste.

We have been working collaboratively with the Minister and his officials over the last number of months to help develop a range of options to suit different types of households which will be transparent and easily understood by consumers.

IWMA and its member companies will continue to engage constructively in the ongoing review being conducted by the Minister and his Department.

Ends.
